Updated Class Calendar

We are getting to that time of year when we start prepping for our recitals yay! The weather has been quite kind to us this year and we have not had to use as many storm days as anticipated :) I have made some adjustments to the class calendar to make sure no classes (that got ahead due to difference in storm days, holidays etc) have a large gap with no classes before the recital. Please see the updated calendar attached. If we ave any further snow days the class calendar will be readjusted.
